HEARING IS BEGUN

Prominent Philadelphians Charged With Defrauding City Are on Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—Charged with conspiracy to defraud the city, Abraham L. English, former director of public safety, and John W. Henderson and Henry E. Batten, members of a contracting firm; Elwood Johnson, an architect, and James D. Finley, formerly a building inspector, were arraigned for a hearing today before Magistrate Eisenbrown. The prosecution was instigated by Mayor Weaver and is the result of an investigation made by W. R. Powell, city architect, into the construction of one of the buildings of the city hospital for contagious diseases. The contract was awarded to Henderson & Co. in May, 1903, the price being $142,700. Samuel H. Ashbridge was at that time mayor of the city. Mr. Ashbridge and Architect Powell were the most important witnesses called at today's hearing, which was continued until tomorrow.

Mr. Powell said his investigation developed the fact that the specifications had been disregarded by the contractors. "There was little thing," he declared. Some of the rooms were not plastered and, where the specifications had called for brick walls, plaster and expanded wire were used. Instead of the 208,119 pounds of steel, only 26,000 pounds had been used. Although the contractors were paid in full for their work, Mr. Powell said the building is not complete.

A REVOLUTION IS PREDICTED

MAXIM GORKY NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH TROUBETSKOY'S REFORM IDEAS.

MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—Voicing the sentiments of the extreme wing of the Russian reformers, Maxim Gorky today expressed sincere sorrow at the death of Prince Troubetskoy as a man and as a Russian, but declared that Russia had nothing to hope from the reported activity of such men as Prince Troubetskoy. He added:

"I regarded Prince Troubetskoy as a frank, just and honest man, not as a representative of the Liberal party which can never effect reforms in Russia. The ancestors of Troubetskoy, Galitzin and Golovin, went hand in hand with imperialism. The taint is still in the blood. They are incapable of realizing their splendid opportunities to know and further the needs of the people. The revolution will come soon, like an avalanche, when least expected. The disorders at Moscow will perhaps cease temporarily, but will be resumed in a month or two with renewed force."

The case against Gorky has not been heard, but the Russian writer reiterated his determination not to permit the proceedings to be dropped. He said he would force the government to bring him to trial.

JERRY SIMPSON HAS TWO SINKING SPELLS

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 13.—Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson had two sinking spells today, but is resting easier tonight.

CURTAIN RINGS DOWN ON LIFE OF SIR HENRY IRVING

Distinguished Actor Dies Suddenly of Syncope at Bradford, England, at Conclusion of Masterly Presentation of Lord Tennyson's "Becket"—Had Premonition of Death.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The English-speaking world has suffered [illegible] by the sudden death tonight at Bradford of Sir Henry Irving, who was universally [illegible] the most [illegible] English actor of the day. Sir Henry died literally in harness. He [illegible] in the English provinces and this week was playing an engagement at Bradford [illegible] favorite roles. Thursday he presented "King René's Daughter" [illegible] excellent health, taking the exhausting part of Matthias in the [illegible] with all the vigor of youth. Tonight before an enthusiastic audience he portrayed one of his most [illegible] parts, the title role in his own stage adaptation of Lord Tennyson's "Becket" [illegible]

After the performance Sir Henry returned to the hotel [illegible] it was observed that he was in great pain. Physicians were [illegible] before they could arrive Sir Henry was seized with an attack of syncope and expired within a few minutes without having uttered a word, in the presence of Bram Stoker, who had been his [illegible] for thirty years, and a few other intimate friends. The event caused the greatest [illegible] among the members of the company.

The A[illegible] tonight received the following telegram from Mr. Stoker:

"Very terrible news. Sir Henry Irving had an attack of syncope after returning from the theater to the hotel tonight and died suddenly."

To the last moment of his life Sir Henry Irving's heart was in the work to which [illegible] devoted his career, the raising of the standard of his art. On Wednesday he was entertained at luncheon in the Bradford town hall, at which the mayor presented him an address from his admirers. In replying to the address Sir Henry spoke of himself as one the sands of whose life were fast running out, but no one then present had the slightest idea that the end would come so soon. He proceeded in his reply to eloquently advocate the establishment of theaters by municipalities, "because," he said, "I believe that by this means the standard of the true drama as distinguished from miscellaneous entertainments would be successfully upheld.

"Money is spent like water for all kinds of philanthropic and educational objects," he continued, "but who among you ever dreams of endowing the theater? I am sure that the time will come when you will regard the theater as necessary to a liberal education, and be prepared to consider any reasonable suggestions for the extension of its legitimate influence. It may be that in years to come our countrymen will scarcely understand how in our time so potent an instrument of good or ill as the stage was left entirely outside the sphere of public administration."

Sir Henry's last appearances in London were made last summer following his last illness, when the enthusiasm at the nightly receptions accorded him in the historic Drury Lane theater will long be remembered. Since then he has been engaged in touring the provinces and contemplated another visit to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Sir Henry Irving was looking forward with much enthusiasm to his coming to the United States," said Charles Frohman, his manager, in speaking of the distinguished English actor tonight. "He liked the Americans," continued Mr. Frohman, "and he had many friends among them. It was Mr. Irving's intention to come to the United States probably two months in advance of the time of the opening of his season, in the latter part of next October, and just spend the time in visiting among friends. His season was to cover a period of twenty playing weeks, extending over a large part of the United States, and was to terminate in New York. It was to be Mr. Irving's farewell appearance in America, and he wanted the opportunity to make his adieu to the American people. Following his last appearance in New York about the end of February, he was to be entertained at a breakfast to which well known people from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities were to be invited."

Mr. Frohman was witnessing William H. Crane's production of "The American Lord" when he was informed of the death of Sir Henry.

"The news is a great shock to me," he said. "I have known Sir Henry very well for a long time, and the three tours of the United States which he made were under my direction. Previous to those tours Sir Henry had made six tours in the United States, the first running back twenty-five years or more, when he came here under the management of Henry Abbey.

"The last time I saw him was at the Garrick club in London on the night of last July. It was a dinner at which Sir Henry, Henry Watterson, three or four other persons and I were present. Sir Henry then was in excellent spirits. He had just finished a six weeks' London engagement at the Drury Lane theater, where he had been given an enthusiastic reception, the demonstrations in his honor lasting twenty minutes. At that time he told us of his plans for the season, saying that he expected to play on Christmas in England, rest during the holidays, and then resume play in the provinces. It had been his intention to come to the United States this season, but the attack of illness which he suffered last spring changed [illegible] that plan."

Mr. Frohman spoke with much feeling of Mr. Irving's great regard and respect for President Roosevelt, and the late Secretary Hay, and of his earnest desire to again visit the United States.

Some drivers succeeded [illegible] their saddles, others were dragged, but the most of them were left behind. The horses dashed over a small elevated [illegible] with a frightful [illegible].

SMITH THOUGHT TO BE AT CANON CITY

Special to The Gazette.
CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—It is believed that [illegible] Smith, Goldfield's missing [illegible] has been located in Canon City. Sheriff Bell was informed tonight by the sheriff of Fremont county that a man of such description, who called himself Smith, had sought and obtained work [illegible] from [illegible] in Lincoln Park, a suburb of Canon City. The Canon City authorities say they are fully satisfied that the man is Smith. Smith left Goldfield eight days ago, presumably because he could not obtain work as a miner. He said nothing of his intentions to [illegible] away and his wife has since been driven almost to distraction.

LOSS WAS COMPLETE

Missouri State Building at the Portland Exposition Burned Yesterday.

FIRE IS A MYSTERY

SECRET SERVICE MEN ADVANCE THEORY OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN ARE WORKING ON CASE.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 13.—The Missouri state building at the Lewis and Clark exposition was completely destroyed by fire tonight. [illegible] the magnificent exhibit [illegible] by the Missouri state commission was saved and the beautiful collection of art and statuary which was one of the features of the Missouri display [illegible] almost a complete loss. It is estimated that the pecuniary loss will reach [illegible], with no insurance, [illegible] of the art exhibit.

[illegible] building standing when the [illegible] control was the colonnade [illegible] surmounted by a half dozen angelic figures which stood out [illegible] against the gloom of the night.

How the fire started is a mystery. The flames were first seen by a youth who was walking near the building. He immediately turned in the [illegible] alarm which summoned the exposition and city fire departments to the scene. The secret service agents are working on the theory that the fire was of incendiary origin and that it started [illegible] a collection of packing cases stored just in the rear of the building awaiting the dismantling of the Missouri exhibit.

Superintendent of the Building Edward [illegible] Crumbaugh of Columbia, Mo., the only person within the structure at the time of the fire, has another and more probable theory. He is of the opinion that the fire had its origin in the same faulty electrical construction which has been the cause of the several incipient blazes which have occurred in different buildings during the fair.

Three-quarters of an hour after the first alarm was sounded the Missouri building was in ruins. That the flames did not spread to some of the adjoining buildings was due to the almost complete absence of winds and to the marvelous work of the firemen who fought the fire desperately to save adjacent exhibit palaces.

The only casualty was the serious injury to an electrician named Harry Jones, who in the early stages of the fire mounted to the roof to cut the electric wires and who fell to the main floor of the building.

RAVAGES OF PINE BEETLE CHECKED BY GEN. PALMER

Dr. A. D. Hopkins, Government Entomologist, Thinks Danger of Destructive Invasion by Pest Has Been Precluded—An Instructive Address.

"The situation is encouraging. In cutting down a large number of the infected trees General William Palmer has, I think, precluded the likelihood of any destructive invasion. The Black Hills beetle which you have here kills the tree or the clump of trees it attacks, but General Palmer by his prompt action has the situation well in hand."

That was the good news which Dr. A. D. Hopkins, who has charge of the forest insect division of the bureau of entomology, department of agriculture, announced to the members of the Polytechnic society at Coburn hall last night.

Forest Specimens.

Dr. Hopkins' informal lecture on beetles was heard with the deepest interest. He in turn was exceedingly interested in the specimens which Dr. J. C. Shedd brought to the meeting. He was especially attracted by a specimen which Dr. Shedd had taken from an Engelman spruce in Crystola pass as it is the first instance where the Black Hills beetle has been positively known to attack an Engleman spruce, although it had been admitted as a possibility from the fact that a yellow spruce is known to have been attacked in the Black Hills in a vicinity where the pines had all been destroyed.

[illegible]

Dr. Hopkins has in [illegible] days traversed [illegible] of the forest [illegible] in the Pike's Peak region and has thoroughly familiarized himself with the ravages of the Black Hills beetle in this vicinity. His report [illegible] offers give great encouragement to those who have been alarmed over the situation.

"Those interested in forestry are right in being startled by the appearance of the Black Hills beetle," Dr. Hopkins declared, "for it is deadly in its attacks."

Palmer Lake and Cascade are the points at which Dr. Hopkins found most evidence of the Black Hills beetle's work. The invasion at Palmer Lake seems to have been augmented by a wind storm which upturned many trees and gave the beetles an easy method of attack. From this [illegible] they operated and increased. Traces of the destructive insects [illegible] were found in the Crystola [illegible] and on the Bear Creek driveway in North Cheyenne canon.

The Only Remedy.

One can always tell when a living tree has been attacked by the reddish pitch tubes which exude. These trees where they are in clumps should be cut down and the infected places peeled of the bark that the larvae may be destroyed by exposure. If only an occasional tree is infested, the tree may frequently be saved by [illegible] the places of infection and allowing the flow of sap to heal the places thus disturbed. This can only be done with safety to the tree which is straight-grained. The trees should never be cut in the summer time, but in the winter or early spring. March or April is early enough and by that time it will be clearly demonstrated how many trees need be sacrificed. If an attacked tree is already dead, the pitch tubes on the surface of the bark will be white and it is certain that the insects have swarmed and have gone elsewhere. When a tree is not dead in all parts they sometimes remain until a second and possibly a third year, but invariably they seek a live tree after having killed a tree which they have occupied. The first year of a tree's death its leaf is yellow, the second year it is red, the third year brown, the fourth black and the fifth year the top breaks and falls. No beetle is ever found alive in a tree after it reaches the red top stage.

Work in Swarms.

The Black Hills beetle never strikes twice in the same place. When they have destroyed a clump of trees they swarm to a point far distant in order that they may escape their natural enemies. This works admirably so far as many of their followers are concerned. One feature for which local people have to be thankful is that this beetle has only one generation each year. The pine bark beetle of the south has four. In 1891 and '92 the pine bark beetle destroyed 75,000 square miles of pine timber. They got into Virginia and

TAGGART GETS DIVORCE AND CUSTODY OF HIS CHILDREN

WOOSTER, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Judge Eason, who heard the divorce case of Captain E. F. Taggart against his wife, rendered his decision this afternoon. The court grants Captain Taggart the divorce and the custody of the two children. Although Mrs. Taggart is denied possession of the children, she will be permitted to see them.

Captain Taggart was in court during the reading of the decision. Mrs. Taggart is ill and was not present. The court room was crowded with an expectant throng of people. Judge Eason, before giving his decision, reviewed the petitions, answers, and affidavits. In the course of his statement Judge Eason said that the testimony was deeply touching. The charge of drunkenness against Captain Taggart, the court said, was not sustained.

The trial lasted seven weeks. The case went to the court a month ago. The suit was first started in July, 1904, by Captain Taggart, who filed a petition for divorce, charging his wife with conduct unbecoming a wife and alleging the excessive use of intoxicants.

Mrs. Taggart heard of the proceedings in San Francisco several weeks later and immediately started for Wooster, the home of the Taggarts, where she filed a counter petition for divorce against Captain Taggart on the grounds of cruelty and neglect. The case has been of exceptional interest because of statements during the trial by Captain Taggart that the use of intoxicants in the army was so common as to be almost the custom. A number of prominent army officers were named in Captain Taggart's petition as having been more or less the cause of the domestic troubles between Captain and Mrs. Taggart.

Captain Taggart is a well-known army officer. He is a graduate of West Point and has served at various army posts. He was commissary officer of a division in the Cuban campaign, aided in the relief of the Cubans, served with distinction in the Philippines and especially in Samar, was chief of police of Manila and commanded the hospital ship Relief and the transport Sherman.

Culvery, the eldest child of Captain and Mrs. Taggart, declared to his mother tonight that no matter what the court decided he would rather remain with her. This afternoon before the decision of the court was announced, the child went to his mother and said:

"Mamma, I don't have to leave you, will I?"

The Taggart home is being watched tonight because of a fear that the children might be kidnaped.

LESSEES CHARGED WITH HIGHGRADING

Special to The Gazette.
CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—Charged with robbing their associates and the Gold Sovereign M. and T. company of high grade ore, H. C. Buckley and J. H. Goff, lessees, were arrested by Sheriff Bell at the mine this afternoon. The prisoners, with J. D. Yambert, have a lease on Block No. 5 of the Gold Sovereign. Highgrade ore has been appearing in a vein but when ore was marketed it failed to raise the rate of settlement. Yambert suspected his associates of defrauding him and yesterday swore out a warrant in Justice Patrick's court, charging them with larceny of ore worth $50. Bell searched the prisoners' cabin which is near the mine and found hundreds of pounds of highgrade ore. They were lodged in the county jail.

RAVAGES OF PINE BEETLE

West Virginia, which was farther north than their normal condition would warrant, and their ravage was fortunately ended by the bitter coldness of the winter of '93. Dr. Hopkins had been sent to Germany to import species of the enemy of the pine bark beetle and an absurd story went the rounds of the press to the effect that with 2,000 insects he had destroyed the army of beetles covering 75,000 square miles. He has been busy correcting this error ever since.

Immense Damage.

Where the Black Hills beetles are few in number they concentrate their forces. When they are strong they continue to attack trees or clumps of trees in swarms. In the Black Hills, where their appearance was first observed, they have destroyed more than 1,000,000 trees. Their terrific invasion has been checked by means of cutting down the infected trees and peeling them.

The Black Hills beetle is not the turpentine beetle. This last named insect is red, while the Black Hills beetle is black. The turpentine beetle does vast injuries to the tree it attacks, but it does not kill. It attacks the base of a tree while the Black Hills beetle, like the Engleman spruce and the Douglas spruce beetles, attacks the trunk higher up. The Black Hills beetle makes a curve at the entrance and then bores a straight gallery from 12 to 30 inches in length, depositing its eggs in side niches from which the hatched larvae work their way into fresh galleries which ultimately ring the tree and cause its destruction. It is a relative of the turpentine beetle, but works more after the fashion of the spruce beetles.

Pest Here Before.

Evidence that the Black Hills beetle made incursions into this territory 30 and perhaps 50 years ago have been discovered by Dr. Hopkins, who has found trees that have been dead for many years which are unquestionably killed by this pest.

One more interesting fact brought out by Dr. Hopkins was that the beetle is often more to blame for the damage done in forest fires than the flames themselves, or at least the beetle is largely responsible for the occurrence of these fires. The beetle destroys the trees of an area and when those catch fire they are readily consumed and the fire is thus given headway towards the green trees to which it soon spreads.

Dr. Hopkins expressed his high appreciation of the deep interest manifested in his study in this community and stated that such receptions were an inspiration to workers in this and sympathetic branches of the service.

FIELD MEET DREW IMMENSE CROWD

The field meet held by the El Paso County Anti-Cigarette league on Washburn field yesterday afternoon was by far the most successful meet ever held by that society. More than 3,000 spectators witnessed the contests, while 27 teams of 152 contestants participated. The Garfield school team won class "A," the Steele school team won class "B," and the Lowell school team won class "C."

The school pupils began gathering early in the afternoon and by 3 o'clock the grandstand was filled and ropes were drawn about the field to keep the spectators separate from the contestants. The various school turn-outs went to the meet in special street cars and occupied reserved sections of the grandstand. This feature made each school's yelling distinctive and also gave the grandstand a pretty color effect. The field was kept clear of non-contestants by a squad of High school cadets which patroled the grounds.

The results, as announced by the judges at midnight, are as follows:

Class "A."

Garfield 35, Liller 33½, Lowell 31½, Steele 27½ and Washington 21½.

Clifford McAdams of Liller was high individual. Walter Hussong of Garfield and Walter James of Lowell tied for second, while Frank Robinson of Garfield was third.

Class "B."

Steele 35, Garfield 31 1-3, Liller 31, Columbia 28 2-3, Bristol 26 5-6, Bancroft 25 5-12, Washington 23, Roswell 21½ and Lowell 19½.

George Johnston of Steele was high individual. Henry McIntosh of Liller was second, while Chauncey Coombs of Steele and Wilford Taylor of Bancroft tied for third.

Class "C."

FAST NEW YORK TEAM TAKES ANOTHER FROM PHILADELPHIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Three to one is the advantage the New Yorks hold over the Philadelphians for the world's championship. New York scored their third victory today and if the locals secure tomorrow's contest the world's championship flag will fly from the top mast in the Polo grounds.

Philadelphia, heavily handicapped by the loss of the service of their erratic pitcher, Waddell, has succumbed to the masterful work of Matthewson twice, and today McGinnity pitched gilt-edged ball, which partially atoned for his defeat at the hands of Bender last Tuesday on the same diamond. Manager Mack and Manager McGraw arrived on the battlefield today with firm determination and, while the betting indicated that the local men were almost prohibitive favorites, not a few of the Philadelphia adherents were willing to risk money on the visitors' chance of victory. These bets were snapped up quickly and before the game had gone two innings all wagering was at a standstill.

Manager Mack decided that his Indian pitcher should have a sufficient rest, and put Plank in, who, with good backing, would have done better.

In the fourth inning, however, Monte Cross was so anxious to get a bounder from Mertes that he fumbled the ball and juggled with it long enough to allow the batter to reach first. This was the only error made but it was an expensive one as it formed the nucleus of a run—the run which won.

McGinnity and Plank were equally effective but Plank managed to get a hit which the "iron man" failed to do. Official attendance, 25,000. Score: R. H. E.

DAN PATCH EQUALS UNPACED MILE IN HARNESS ONCE MORE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 13.—Star Pointer continues to hold the world's championship for an unpaced mile in harness. In a trial to lower it today, Dan Patch equaled it for the second time. In view of the stiff breeze which the pacer had to face through the quarter stretch, the popular opinion was that he could not beat 1:59¼, and that he equaled it was regarded as a great performance. Hersey was behind Dan Patch and Scott Hudson drove the runner which accompanied him alongside. Star Pointer was driven on the track and after an ovation from the crowd, viewed Patch's trial from the head of the stretch. The quarter was made in :30 flat and the half in :59. For the next quarter the horse had to contend with the wind. It did not affect his speed, as the three-quarters was reached in 1:28¾, but it told on the strength of the horse. At the head of the stretch a second runner was picked up and with Dan Patch came home between them, he showed that he was tired. Hersey, who drove him a mile Thursday behind a pacemaker and dirt shield in 1:55¼ without touching him, today whipped vigorously through the last sixteenth. Urging was to no avail as 1:59¼ was the best he could do. The crowd was not disappointed and he was paraded with a floral wreath around his neck. Results:

The Kentucky stakes, trotting, $5,000—Susie N. won two straight heats in 2:11, 2:14¼. Wigwam, Bon Voyage, Katherine and The Phantom also started.

2:08 class pace, $1,000—Ecstatic Maid won. Best time, 2:08. Shylock, Ben F., Bald Nob, Sunny Slope, Cambria Maid and Joe Interest also started.

2:20 trot, $1,000—Main Sheet won. Best time 2:10¼. Rosem, Earls Mowry, Bourbon, Hughey Mc., and Silas also started.

NATIONALS WIN FROM AMERICANS

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Twelve thousand people today witnessed a pitchers' battle between White and Weimer in which the Nationals won the third game of the Chicago championship series, 3 to 2. The Nationals were held down to three hits, two of which were made in the first inning. In the second inning White gave a pass, made a wild pitch and, with Slagle's triple and two errors, the Nationals made their three scores. White pitched superb ball after this and the Americans rallied in the eighth, but could not overcome the lead against them. Callahan's running catch of Chance's long fly was the feature. Score: R. H. INFORMATIONS ARE FILED

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—As a result of the death of Joseph Anderson direct informations charging Minnie Davis, Sam Clark and Eugene Scott with murder in the first degree, were drawn up in Justice Lewis' court this afternoon by J. W. Sheafor, deputy district attorney, and sworn to by Louis Dittemore, deputy sheriff. Papers were served on Minnie Davis in the county jail and on Clark and Scott at the Victor jail by Dittemore. Clark and Scott were brought to the county jail tonight. Under this charge the prisoners may not be admitted to bail. Fay Fairchild, part owner of the International house in which Anderson died Wednesday, was arrested this morning by the Victor police for investigation and was turned over to the sheriff for safe-keeping. Dan R. Wamble, a clarinet player in the dance hall, was held in the Victor jail as a witness. Wamble was present during the fight at the dance hall Wednesday morning, and was one of the first on the scene when the death of Anderson was announced. At the inquest he told what appeared to be a straightforward story of the assault and the death. No arrangements have been made for the victim's funeral. Telegrams received from Rantz Anderson, a brother living at Mifflin, Wis., lead to belief that interment will be here. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Sara Johnson of South Seattle, Wash., has not been heard from.

ANDREWS WANTED

Perpetrator of Heinous Cutler Mountain Crime May Be Caught.

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 13.—The man known locally as William Brush, or Curtis, who with a woman companion is wanted for the robbery and attack upon William Ellis, the Australian sporting man in this city on Wednesday last, has been identified by the police as Milton Franklin Andrews, wanted for the alleged murder of Bessie Bouton, on Mount Cutler, at Colorado Springs, on October 5, 1904. The detectives say that identification is so positive as to admit of no doubt.

The minute descriptions furnished by Ellis of his assailant tally exactly with those sent broadcast over the country last year of the man who was known to have been with Bessie Bouton shortly before her body was found. Andrews traveled under the aliases of George Bennett and Milton Franklin, and it now appears that he has added the names of Brush and Curtis to his list. Not only does Brush or Curtis fit descriptions of Andrews, but the preparations for the dismemberment of Ellis strongly recall the details of the tragedy in Colorado. Bessie Bouton's nude body was found partially burned and acid had been used to render the work of identification more difficult. No clew to the whereabouts of Brush and his female companion has yet been found.

City Marshal Vollmer in going through a trunk left behind by Brush found tonight a Denver newspaper, dated October 2, 1904, containing an account of the mysterious disappearance of Julia Ward. Marshal Vollmer further says he is in possession of clews which he thinks will soon lead to the apprehension of Brush.

Believing that they have at last secured a trace of Milton Franklin Andrews, wanted in this city for the murder of Bessie Bouton on Mount Cutler a year ago, the police department of San Francisco has wired to Police Chief Adams for a photograph. The dispatch was received yesterday from Police Chief J. F. Dinan, of San Francisco, and reads as follows:

"Send us immediately the photograph of the woman whose hand shows upon the man's shoulder, described in your circular of Feb. 6 last under the name of Andrews, wanted for murder."

REVIVAL SERVICES AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

A series of revival services will begin at the First M. E. church tomorrow, conducted by the Rev. W. J. Colfee and his wife, Mrs. Hattie Colfee, of Kansas City.

Mr. Colfee has been preaching for many years and is especially fitted for evangelistic work. Conversions were numerous, especially among men and boys.

Mrs. Colfee is a splendid soloist and an excellent choir leader. She has great genius and skill as an organizer, and will have charge of a large chorus. All young people who sing are cordially invited to join the choir. Mrs. Colfee wishes to meet the choir this evening at the church.

There will be services from 10 to 11 o'clock every morning next week, except Monday and Saturday, and every evening at 7:30 o'clock except Saturday. The Sunday evening meeting will be of special interest to men. The public is invited to all these services.

TRIAL OF $25,000 DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST ALEX ADAMS

Testimony on Both Sides Proves Contradictory and Glibness of Witnesses for the Prosecution Arouses Comment in Court Room.

[illegible] of the $25,000 damage suit, brought by Alverta Self against Police Chief Alex Adams was commenced in the district court yesterday before Judge Robert E. Lewis and a jury of six. The feature of the trial was the conflicting testimony given by the witnesses upon both sides. The [illegible] glibness of the witnesses for the prosecution caused considerable comment among the spectators in the court room.

Mrs. Alverta Self was the first witness called for the plaintiff's side. She told of being awakened from sleep on the night of June 10 by Mrs. A. J. Rowley, the landlady of the rooming house, and told to get dressed as the officers were waiting to enter the room. When she started to open the door it was forced open by someone [illegible]. She saw Chief Adams and Captain Stewart standing there and they at once entered the room. Declining to recognize the marriage certificate they forced her and her husband to go to the patrol wagon, and they were taken to the police station. Witness asserted that in passing down the stairs she was pushed by Chief Adams, and when about to enter the patrol wagon she was again pushed by the chief and stumbling fell against the wagon, receiving a painful bruise on her [illegible]. When she returned to the rooming house she was almost fainting and a few days later became ill from the effects of the night ride and was obliged to remain in her bed for several days.

Dr. Wintermitz was next called to the witness stand and testified to attending Mrs. Self upon two occasions.

Husband's Story.

Frank Self testified to his marriage and to the arrest on the night of June 10. He said that he entered the wagon first and his wife followed. Witness said that he was sleeping when awakened by the landlady and the officers. He had known Mrs. Rowley for three or four years and knew the house to be respectable and perfectly decent. He had lived there since early in June and that during that time he had seen nothing improper. When awakened, witness said, both he and his wife dressed and went down stairs. His wife wanted to walk but the chief objected and pushed her so that she fell against the step of the wagon. He caught his wife and then got into the wagon while she followed. Witness said no one touched him as he descended the stairs, but later asserted that his wife placed her arm around him to support herself.

B. H. Wilson, father of Mrs. Self, told of the telephone conversation with the police station on the night of the arrest, and of Captain Stewart and Detective Shultz coming to his house a few days later. He was unable to repeat much of the conversation that occurred upon the latter occasion, but admitted that the officers advised him the house was not a proper one for his daughter to stop in.

Landlady's Testimony.

Mrs. J. R. Cavanaugh, formerly Mrs. A. J. Rowley, proprietress of the rooming house at 23 East Huerfano street last June, testified that she had conducted the house for about three years but sold it on September 20 last, to Morris Arnstine. Self and his wife came there to room early last June and always paid their rent promptly, and do not now owe her a cent. On the night of June 10 she heard someone coming up the stairs and throwing on a wrapper opened her door and saw Chief Adams and Captain Stewart standing there. The officers said they wanted to look around and she escorted them to every room. "The Selfs occupied room No. 3 and I told the officers they were all right people," said the witness. When Mrs. Self opened the door she was dressed in a thin undershirt and a skirt. The chief pushed [illegible] that [illegible] placed his knee against the door to force it open. Mr. Self was [illegible] to bed when the chief ordered him to get up and [illegible] were under arrest. Witness asked Mr. Self to show the [illegible] marriage certificate but the chief [illegible] threw it to the floor. Witness [illegible] Mrs. Self to take the [illegible] station with her. Witness [illegible] and all were [illegible]. Mrs. Aldrich occupied No. [illegible], [illegible] Gordon was in No. [illegible]. There were no other women in the house but Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Self and [illegible] panied the chief in making the round of the rooms and we found Mrs. Aldrich in her own room, Gordon [illegible] Mrs. Self in their room. [illegible] and Mrs. Aldrich entered the patrol wagon first, then Mrs. Self and [illegible] side. Witness was [illegible] police court Monday morning [illegible] his wife returned to the house [illegible] a. m. and Mrs. Self complained [illegible] her side. Three days later she was taken sick and Dr. Wintermitz was called twice. She had never [illegible] prescription to that [illegible].

Cross-Examination.

Upon cross-examination the witness admitted that rooms No. [illegible] and No. [illegible] adjoined and that there was a door in the partition between the two, but asserted that it was locked upon both sides when the police called, and that it had never been opened. She admitted that the officers had visited the house, but said it was while she was away. She denied that she had ever been convicted of running a disorderly house, but afterward admitted that she had been fined in the police court and had taken an appeal to the county court. Witness admitted having sent her daughter upon various occasions for Mrs. Self to come there, but said it was because Mrs. Self was a nice little woman and she had always greatly attached to her. She denied that Mrs. Self had ever used the house for [illegible] purposes.

Mrs. Wilson testified that the plaintiff was her daughter and [illegible] years of age. She was married to Self in February [illegible]. Witness testified to the illness of her daughter following the arrest and to her removal to her home at [illegible] City on the following Saturday. Witness showed nervous symptoms during the cross-examination and when she was finally excused she was assisted to a chair in a hysterical condition.

Judge Hubbard for the defense moved the court to direct a nonsuit for the reason that the plaintiff had introduced no evidence to show she was damaged; there was no doctor bill presented and no charge was made for loss of time. The motion was overruled.

Police Chief Alex Adams was then called for the defense and testified to the facts of the arrests at 23 East Huerfano street on the night of June 10. Witness denied that he had forced open the door of the room occupied by Self, or that the fastenings had been forced by him. He testified that Captain Stewart first entered the room and that he was handed the marriage certificate, looked at it and laid it upon the dresser. Mrs. Rowley accompanied him making a round of the rooms and when the parties were placed under arrest, the witness, accompanied by Captain Stewart, proceeded down the stairs in advance of the remainder of the party. Gordon and Mrs. Aldrich came down behind him, and Mr. and Mrs. Self followed them. While the party was entering the wagon he stood upon the sidewalk talking with two city detectives. Witness swore positively that he did not touch Mrs. Self as she entered the wagon.

Court then adjourned until [illegible] this morning.

COLORADO CITY

OFFICER VINDICATED BY CHIEF OF POLICE

In regard to the suit against Night Captain Roy L. Gilliland brought in the county court yesterday by A. Leonard, a former prisoner, for $44, which the latter alleges is the value of property retained from him without cause, Chief of Police George G. Birdsall of Colorado City last night made the following statement:

"The plaintiff, Leonard, was intoxicated and asleep on a bench when he was arrested by two Colorado City officers. The arrest was made in the presence of two citizens of this place, who were present when the man was searched. It is said the prisoner had been drunk for a considerable time, and no one knows how long he had been lying on the bench when taken up. No money was found upon his person. Gilliland is an efficient officer of splendid reputation, and the charge is absolutely without foundation."

THE COLORADO SPRINGS DRY GOODS CO.

IS THE AMERICAN DE FOREST WIRELESS TELEGRAPH CO. A FAKE?

TO THE DENVER POST AND MESSRS. TAMMENS AND BONFILS, PROPRIETORS:

The following appeared in your issue of October 11, A. D. 1905:

The Post is in receipt of the following letter, which is answered publicly below, on account of the very great importance of the subject:

The Post: Gentlemen—Is the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company, which is selling stock at Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Rocky Ford a fake concern or a bona fide company? They claim to have opened [illegible] offices in Denver, have offices at Boulder, Pueblo and Trinidad, and have communication to points East. Have sold machines to the United States government and have other contracts with them. Write at once.

G. P. RANDALL, Rocky Ford, Colo.

G. P. Randall, Esq., Rocky Ford, Colo. Dear Sir—In reply to your favor above will say the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company has been fairly successful in sending and receiving wireless messages over and across water. The distance, however, that these messages have been sent and received, is limited, of course. Thus far their system of sending and receiving messages on land has been practically a failure.

They have built stations in Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and other cities, but up to the present time have been unable to do successful commercial telegraph business. The best electrical experts claim that they will not be able to do a commercial telegraph business, even in the future. The technical reasons why they will not are [illegible] too obscure to print herewith.

They have built stations or towers in a number of towns in Colorado, but are doing practically no business, either in sending or receiving messages from these various stations. It looks as though they were placing these stations more with the idea of selling their stock in the community in which they are erected than for the purpose of really getting any actual business.

They have sold and are still selling many, many thousands of dollars worth of stock in their company, and the business thus far in Colorado has every indication of being a stock selling scheme, pure and simple. Very Truly Yours,

THE DENVER POST.

The letter of inquiry may have been prompted simply from motives of sincerity on the part of Mr. Randall, but it does not sound so, nor does it read so when held by its four corners and read between the lines.

Your reply, however, was certainly a most unwarranted attack upon the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company, without a semblance of truth upon which to base it. Without an inquiry of any kind from you of its officers at Denver, indeed without a proposition of any kind from you or your paper to [illegible] connected with this company and without any investigation, directly or indirectly, you send your reply. Had you ever sent a message through the Wireless system to any of its established stations, had you or Mr. Randall sought to [illegible] by the Wireless with any of the established stations mentioned in his inquiry or your reply, you would have realized at once that the reply was an [illegible].

Wireless stations at various points in the state of Colorado and in the eastern states are a [illegible] matter of fact. Communication has been established. Our agents are in existence. We have the messages to show and Wireless communication by land, over land, and over mountains is an established fact, and not a drop of water intervenes or is utilized. Now, if you propose to be fair, we will, in behalf of the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph, submit this proposition.

We will allow you to select one man reputable of choice: the Rocky Mountain News, The Denver Republican, the Pueblo Chieftain, the Colorado Springs Gazette, the Boulder Camera and the Mayor of Cripple Creek, and the Cashier of the First National Bank of Fort Collins, each to select a man to compose a committee of investigation of this company to test its ability to do and perform all it professes to determine whether the Wireless system is purely an ocean enterprise, as you claim, and a fake and to pass upon the integrity of the local officers if you desire.

If that committee shall decide against your [illegible] and negative the positive assertions made therein made as well as the head-lines, you to pay the expenses of such committee. If you will not do this (and we hardly dare hope for it), we will volunteer to pay all expenses if you will agree to give the public to understand that your reply was false as publicly in your paper as you have published the foregoing. We also agree to redeem stock or bonds of this company at par value if anyone will prove your statement to be true.

Inasmuch as you did not first submit the inquiry of Mr. Randall to us before giving it and your reply publicity, we think we are fully justified in giving this letter to the morning papers in advance of its possible publication in your next issue, so that the damage your libelous article may do to the company shall be lessened.

Any member of your firm may call at the company's office (in office hours) and arrange for the committee, you nominate your man, but to have no voice in the selection of the other. Each party to act independently of the other.

This proposition is open for acceptance privately or publicly for forty-eight hours. If not accepted within that time we may elect to prove in court that Wireless telegraphy is adapted to land as well as ocean service.

Respectfully submitted,

AMERICAN DE FOREST WIRELESS TELEGRAPH CO.

PROPOSED SIDEWALK ORDINANCE.

IT is evident from a reading of the proposed provisions of the sidewalk ordinance to be recommended by the Real Estate Exchange that they represent a great deal of study and effort by the committee in charge. The conditions which may best be applied to the needs of streets of different widths have been carefully investigated, but the most laborious part of the work has been finding out the cases wherein the rules applied to other streets of the same width will not hold good. It is impossible to formulate a set of provisions which will be applicable to all cases, and, as in grammar, the exceptions are more numerous than the rules.

The suggestions made by the Real Estate Exchange are, of course, subject to change, and it is possible that the ordinance submitted to the Council will embody provisions not contained in the draft published yesterday in The Gazette, while others now included will be omitted. The ordinance will provide for the construction of sidewalks on streets of six different widths, 140, 100, 80, 60, 50 and 40 feet. On the 40-foot streets the walks are to be four feet wide, but in all other cases six feet will be the standard width. Provision is made for side parking between the curb and the outer edge of the walk, reducing the width of the driveway to 64, 40, 35, 30, 26 and 24 feet respectively. On streets 140 feet and those 40 feet wide the inner edge of the walk would be four feet from the property line, in all other cases the intervening space would be two feet wide. Exceptions are made in a great many cases, as for instance, on Pike's Peak Avenue, which is 140 feet wide. It is provided that on this thoroughfare, between Cascade Avenue and El Paso Street, the outer edge of the curb shall be twenty feet from the property line, instead of thirty-eight feet. This is done because the heavier traffic on this street necessitates a wide driveway.

The construction of sidewalks in every part of the city is not the only benefit to be derived from an ordinance embodying provisions of this kind. It is true that Colorado Springs needs sidewalks, and needs them badly, for the primitive gravel paths are about the last surviving reminder of its village days. But another substantial benefit is to be found in the lessening of the dust area through the parking of the streets on the sides. Parking in the middle, as was done on North Cascade Avenue, is the best method of improving streets of extreme width, for it provides two driveways and presents a much better appearance. But the narrower streets can not be treated in this way, so side parking is the only method by which the dust area can be reduced and appearances improved. Most of the streets in Colorado Springs, and all of the important ones, are at least 100 feet wide, and only a few are as narrow as 80 feet. But if the plan suggested by the Real Estate Exchange is adopted, all of them, even the narrowest, can be parked, and there will still remain driveways of sufficient width to accommodate the traffic.

The Real Estate Exchange is performing a public service in undertaking this work, and it is to be hoped that with the co-operation of the City Attorney and the City Engineer it will be able to draft an ordinance which will satisfy all requirements and receive the approval of the Council and the people.

JAPANESE AS IMMIGRANTS.

IT is a little surprising to hear that the Government has received information from one of its special agents in Tokio that the Mikado's government would be glad if Congress would enact legislation to prevent wholesale Japanese immigration to this country, provided there is nothing in the wording or execution of the law to humiliate Japan. Recalling the attitude of the Chinese government and people toward exclusion, it seems remarkable that the Japanese would actually welcome a law barring them from our shores. But of course the Mikado has reasons of his own for taking this stand.

Imperial edicts have been issued in the past to prevent unlimited emigration to the United States. During the war it was interdicted for military reasons, and now that Japan is free to colonize Korea and Manchuria the government naturally wishes its people who are seeking homes abroad to go to these countries. An American exclusion law would materially assist in diverting the stream though it is hardly likely that Congress will enact any legislation on the subject whatever. Even if the Japanese were as numerous as the Chinese, there would be no reason for alarm, for they are only about one [illegible] as numerous. There are now about 100,000 Japanese in the United States, and no indications of sudden increase are apparent. Out of a total of 1,037,421 immigrants who came to this country during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, only 10,123 were Japanese. Nearly 20,000 arrived during 1903, but the next year the number fell to 14,264, the decrease probably being due to the war. These figures certainly do not indicate that the country is in danger from this phase of the "yellow peril."

The Japanese are far more desirable elements in our population than the Chinese. They assimilate American ideas and manners more readily, adopt American dress, and are more intelligent, though not more industrious. Still, there is no reason why they should be particularly wanted, and if the Japanese government is anxious to have them stay at home we can at least be perfectly willing that they do so.

GERMANY IN THE WEST INDIES.

THE German Kaiser is a clever ruler—so clever that he will bear close watching. He has a way of transferring his activities from one corner of the globe to another with startling suddenness, and it is always hard to tell where he will break out next. Within the last six months he has meddled in China and in Morocco, and has given evidences of a desire to meddle in Norway and the Netherlands. Now he is meddling in the West Indies.

Very little news on the subject is finding its way into the press dispatches, but we may be sure that the State Department is not oblivious to the recent purchase by the Hamburg-American Steamship Company of Water Island, a small key in the Danish West Indies. The significance of this move is partly in the fact that the Hamburg-American line is subsidized by the German government and in time of war its vessels would be converted into auxiliary cruisers, and partly in the fact that the island in question, in common with many others in the same group, commands the approach to the Panama Canal on the Atlantic side. The island has been purchased for use as a coaling station, and the company intends to construct docks large enough to accommodate the heaviest ships. Large reserve supplies of coal will of course be accumulated, and it would be very easy, in case of war, for Germany to use the place as a base of operations.

Consul Payne, who is stationed at St. Thomas near by, intimates his belief that the purchase was brought about through collusion between the German and Danish governments. St. Thomas also belongs to Denmark, and as it has the best harbor in the group, Germany would doubtless be glad to secure it also if the Monroe Doctrine did not prevent. Denmark can not sell any of her possessions in this hemisphere to another government without the consent of the United States, but a way out of this difficulty seems to have been found in the case of Water Island.

Possibly the steamship company's move has been made independent of the imperial government, but the circumstances hardly warrant such an assumption. It is well known that Germany has long been anxious to secure a foothold in this hemisphere, and in view of the pending construction of the canal by the United States the West Indies is the most desirable locality. Recalling the slippery methods by which the Kaiser secured a slice of Chinese territory it seems reasonable to believe that he has like aims on this side the world. But one thing is certain—he will have to settle a few things with your Uncle Samuel before he succeeds.

King Edward has decreed that croquet is to be the fashionable game. Edward is getting old, and likes to take his pleasures quietly. There was a time when he preferred baccarat.

Says former Senator Cockrell: "When a Republican administration tries to do what is right we should support it." What a pity that all Democrats are not as sensible as Cockrell.

According to Mr. McCall's testimony, the New York Life has spent $1,403,920 for "legislation" since 1900. To the corrupt legislator, the New York Life is a veritable friend in need.

Chauncey M. Depew is a director in more than seventy corporations, but the present management of the Equitable respectfully calls attention to the fact that it is not one of them.

There is no longer any doubt that the Republic of Mexico is fully modernized. The firemen on the Mexican Central Railway have gone on strike.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria says the story that he intends to abdicate is nonsense. Francis Joseph is a man after Mr. McCall's own heart.

A British battleship now being constructed will carry twelve 12-inch guns. The British seem to be trying to crowd a whole navy into one ship.

The Chinese army is holding a series of maneuvers. Victories will be won, as usual, with the aid of brass gongs and skyrockets.

Mrs. Chadwick is again being tried. The lady's fatal mistake was in not getting herself elected president of a life insurance company.

DEVELOPING NEW INDUSTRY.

At last practical tests of the treatment of the vanadium ores of the San Miguel are to be made, and the Journal has confidence that the result will be the development of a new industry of considerable proportions. There is apparently no limit to the vanadium bearing ore; that the values are there has been amply demonstrated. All that remains is a milling process that will extract and save those values.—Telluride Journal.

DISCOVERER OR FAKIR.

A resident of Great Falls, Montana, has either made one of the greatest discoveries of the age in agriculture or he is one of the biggest fakirs of the times, who claims to have discovered and perfected a process by which an acre of ground will produce thirty thousand bushels of potatoes every sixty days, which means six crops per year. This man claims potatoes can be raised entirely underground, one layer on top of another, to a depth of fifteen feet, not even the vines appearing above ground, with this process he has patented, which is a composition that takes the place of soil.—Creede Candle.

COLORADO'S PRIDE.

Notwithstanding our shortcomings, Colorado is today the best governed state in the union. Nearly 50 per cent of our population vote at elections. Our percentage of illiterate citizens is lower than in the eastern states. Strike violence has been suppressed, ballot crooks have been punished, tranquility and prosperity have returned. Now if we can put into effect a few sensible supervisory laws and continue to cultivate a spirit of obedience and loyalty to the law, there is no reason why Colorado should not have full credit throughout the union for being the best governed of all the great galaxy of states.—Greeley Republican.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST."

William B. Gray's beautiful temperance drama, "The Volunteer Organist," will be the attraction at the Opera house next Tuesday evening. The scenes of the play are laid in a small village in the northern part of Vermont, and the story is enlivened by several thrilling and pathetic scenes. One act shows a realistic snowstorm, with the snow heaped up in great piles, such as is only found in the open country. During the storm a child is seen struggling through the vast drifts and finally falls exhausted by the roadside. Two beautiful St. Bernard dogs appear upon the scene and rescue the little one. This scene provokes great enthusiasm with audiences and may be classed as one of the strongest in the play. Another act shows the interior of a church with its organ, pulpit, choir loft and the choir boys singing. Master Willie Nelson and Mellor Newman, who scored such popularity with the audiences last season are still members of the company and appear in this scene. The play is finely cast for this engagement and includes such well-known names as Charley Hasty, John Gorman, George Lewis, Allan Pearce, Paul Barnett, John H. Doyle, Marion Leonard, Carrie Thomas and Isabel and Francis Clinton.

"RAMONA" AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

"Ramona," a play of intense interest, pulsating with power and realism, holds the boards this evening at the Opera house. It is the dramatization of the celebrated novel, "Ramona," by Helen Hunt Jackson, known the world over. Thrilling in its intensity, pathetic and mirthful by turns, appealing at all times, such is this remarkable gem—this product of California. Miss Virginia Calhoun, who brings us the play, assumes the title role, supported by a company of sterling people that are close seconds. Her scenery is elaborate and realistic, the costumes gorgeous and effective. One of the features deserving special mention is the marvelous Spanish dances and songs executed with all the abandon and fervor of that southern race. The San Francisco Evening Bulletin, referring to Virginia Calhoun's production of "Ramona," says: "The romantic days of California were called back at the Opera house last night when "Ramona" was produced by Virginia Calhoun. It is a dramatization of Helen Hunt Jackson's wonderful story of the same name. The piece is typically Californian. 'El Camino Real,' that bound the old missions one to the other, leads through it; the silvery chimes of the mission bells ring out, and Indians and Mexicans glide through the five acts with more realism than has been seen upon the stage for a long time. Westerners know their Redmen, and the painted stage pale-face usually is at a disadvantage, but those at the Grand last night were uncommonly good. Miss Calhoun does some very good acting through the seven scenes. But she is out of the ordinary because she knows her subject so well. She has seen our missions and has absorbed the atmosphere. The scenes in Southern California are reproduced with faithful regard for detail and the characters are clothed in proper raiment. Her Indians wear the Indian garb and her Mexicans are clothed as in the long ago. The costuming scenic effects are excellent."

THE SEASON'S FINEST LECTURE.

The choice things in an entertainment way that come to Colorado Springs in a season can usually be counted on the fingers of one hand; and as for lectures that really appeal to the many, they are usually a minus quantity. So when it is known that a man like Elbert Hubbard, who sways audiences of thousands by the keenness of his satire, the charm of his humor and the depth of his thoughts, is to speak in Colorado Springs, it is no wonder that the general public is interested and that there is every promise of a crowded house. The following comments will illustrate the remarkable power and magnetism of the man who has set the world repeating such mottos of his as: "We are great only as we are kind," "Keep sweet or keep silent," and "Blessed is that man who has found his work."

The man speaking today at Queen City park is a genius of whom America will yet be proud. I am quite used to eloquence, elegance, argument and oratorical pyrotechnics, but I am moved by this man, and would advise the people of Burlington to listen to him who has a message while they have an opportunity.—Russel S. Taft, Judge, Vermont Supreme Court.

Mr. Elbert Hubbard, one of the prophets of the better day for everybody, has been to this city and gone. There has been always a suspicion of pose about Mr. Hubbard. The man upon nearer acquaintance dispels the suspicion. There is no fake about him. He believes in his work. He believes in humanity. He believes in himself. There's a flash of the fire of poetic madness in him. He has a leaning toward mysticism. He believes in inspiration. He talks of his psychic experiences as one to whom it is a great and grave verity. The poseur Hubbard is the most superficial. The true man is earnest, almost solemn. When he talks of certain things his face is that of one who sees celestial things. He talks with a queer combination of "horse sense" and "the moving of the spirit." His personality is hypnotic.—William Marion Reedy in the St. Louis Mirror of April 19, 1900.

A PURE, WHOLESOME, RELIABLE
CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

Its superiority is unquestioned
Its fame world-wide
Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food

Cream of tartar is derived from grapes. It is used in Dr. Price's Baking Powder in the exact form and composition in which it occurs in that luscious, healthful fruit. A pound of rich, ripe grapes contains a quantity of cream of tartar equivalent to that required to make baking powder sufficient to raise a dozen ordinary-sized hot tea biscuit. The healthfulness of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is beyond question.

Alum Baking Powders are Condemned by Physicians

Fifty-two different brands of alum and alum-phosphate baking powders were recently analyzed by an official chemist. In every one of these fifty-two different brands sulphuric acid was reported in large quantities, frequently greater than twenty-five per cent of the whole weight of the baking powder!

Chemical tests show that a portion of the alum from alum baking powder remains as such and unaltered in the bread.

Alum baking powders are extravagant. They cost but two cents a pound to make, yet they are sold at twenty-five cents a pound, or twenty-five ounces for twenty-five cents.

But, can the housewife afford, no matter at what price, to use a baking powder which puts alum and sulphuric acid in her food?

Consumptives Made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptives by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages, but if the lungs are not too far gone Foley's Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Hetren of Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." UDGE ORR IS FINED $10 FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT sregarded Judge Kerr's Instructions During Harrison Liquor Trial and Had to Borrow Money to Pay for the Privilege.

t the invitation of the counsel for the e in the case of the City of Colorado ings vs. J. H. Harrison, charged with ating the city liquor ordinance, the was conducted from the court house ight to the drug store of Mr. Harrison above the North park in order to ir themselves if it were possible to outside and witness what trans- within the store. The visit was about 9 o'clock. The defense argued one could not see through the door the store as testified to by one of witnesses for the prosecution. A representative of The Gazette had no trouble seeing the full length of the store to the prescription case from the sidewalk. city then returned to the court and was locked up for the night. most sensational feature of the trial day was when Judge Robert Kerr a fine of $10 upon Judge James counsel for the defense, for contempt of court. Prior to the commencement the arguments the court ordered that counsel must confine their remarks to the evidence and must address lves to the court or jury. In the of Judge Orr's remarks he asked did not the city attorney bring against the two detectives for drinking beer in a public place when the evidence showed that they opened and drank of the beer in an alley. Then ing to City Attorney W. Robinson he added sarcastically: Why didn't prosecute those men? You knew it ur duty to do so.

"I fine you $10 for contempt of court," ked Judge Kerr at this point, "and you will pay the fine before continuing your argument."

Orr commenced a diligent search through his pockets and brought to light a few dollars, a piece of chewing tobacco, a pocket knife, some keys and trinkets. He was still engaged in the search when another attorney handed him a greenback, and the amount of the fine was paid to the clerk of the court. Judge Orr then continued his argument with more regard for the court's orders.

At p. m. the arguments were concluded and the jury retired.

The only testimony offered for the defense was by Druggist Harrison and W. F. McLain. The druggist testified that the detectives asked for horse liniment for a sprain. After a conference it was decided that arnica and witch hazel would be the proper thing and this was put up and handed to the detective. McLain corroborated this evidence.

An interesting feature of this case and one that has not escaped the attention of those interested in the proceedings occurred during the selection of the jury. Twenty men were in the box and each side was given four peremptory challenges. The four excused by counsel for the defense were Prof. Atherton Noyes of Colorado college, Prof. J. R. Urdahl of Colorado college, Rev. F. J. Fink, a Congregational minister, and W. P. Waitten, teller for the Colorado Title and Trust company. The four challenges by the counsel for the city were N. B. Wallace, proprietor of a restaurant in rear of a saloon at Colorado City; Chas. Watt, a shoeblack in Exchange alley; Chas. Grain, a laborer, and A. W. Ten Eyck, a hack driver.

MINE OWNERS WILL MEET THIS MORNING

Mine owners of the Cripple Creek district will meet Engineer D. W. Brunton this morning at 10 o'clock at the Elkton offices, Mining Exchange building, to hear that expert's opinion of the drainage tunnel scheme for the big gold camp. The nature of the report is not known, but it is supposed that it will recommend some definite plan as the most feasible of two surveys which have already been made.

Are you to become a mother? If so, do you realize the great amount of suffering that most women are obliged to undergo, the pain they have to bear? If you could do anything to relieve that pain would you not do it? You are a sensible woman, and of course you would—then read carefully every word.

Mother's Friend

Is a liniment so potent that it will greatly lessen the suffering of any case of labor, no matter how difficult. With this liniment, Motherhood is a beautiful dream; without it, a nightmare. No more suffering, no more anxious cares, but one grateful ideal of motherhood in yourself if you will but spare yourself. For external use, safe to use, quick, and wonderful in results. A word to the wise—"Mother's Friend." All druggists sell it at $1.00 per bottle. We send our book, "Motherhood," free, if you ask for it.

STRINGER CUT ON TEUTONIC CLAIM

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—A crosscut in the Teutonic claim on Ironclad hill is advancing west from the shaft at a depth of 350 feet, under the direction of Duncan and Cain, lessees. It has reached a point 150 feet west of the shaft where a stringer has been cut. This body is of fair quality, and is believed by the lessees to indicate the proximity of a vein of marketable ore. They expect to reach the main vein in the next 20 feet of crosscutting. If its quality does not equal expectations they will add another lift or two to the shaft, and at the 200-foot point start another crosscut.

MOLLIE KATHLEEN IS RESPONDING ONCE MORE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—The Mollie Kathleen is responding again, a carload marketed yesterday by lessees being the first ore to leave the property in many months. In recent exploration, a vein of fair width was found at little depth. Assays suggest a gold content in excess of $30 to the ton.

MOSS, THE DRAPERY MAN.

LITTLE JOE LESSEES MAKING PROGRESS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—Satisfactory progress is being made by C. E. Harrison and Sam D. Crump, lessees, in their journey to depth in the Little Joe claim of the Alert company, situated on Ironclad hill. They started three weeks ago at the 30-foot point and now have a depth of 65 feet. At 100 feet a crosscut will be started to intersect the vein system which in that locality is tempting. The bodies are well mineralized.

CARLOAD LEAVES BLACK DIAMOND

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 13.—A carload of ore left the Black Diamond claim on Tenderfoot hill this week. It was broken by Robert Lewis & Co., lessees, in a drift 35 feet from the shaft, on the 120-foot level. Ten inches of the vein assay handsomely and it is believed returns on the carload shipment will indicate a gross metallic content of $80 to the ton.

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Oct. 13.—Attorney T. E. McClelland left this afternoon for Denver where he will try to arrange a continuance in the trial of Harry J. Waters and H. J. Wolfe, who are charged in the district court of Saguache county with assaulting and beating William Wardjon near Sargents, in that county, last year. Waters is ill at his home near this city, which is the principle reason for asking continuance. Wardjon, who was national organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, was touring the west in the interest of striking coal miners when assaulted.

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

corrects irregularities and cures Kidney and bladder diseases in every form, tones up the whole system, and the diseases that have resulted from disordered Kidneys disappear, because the cause has been removed. Commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at the first sign of danger. Do not risk having Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

WEEKLY REVIEW

Trade Active in All Lines. Freight Blockades Are General.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade ... Recent mild weather might have been expected to retard business, but freight blockades and several ... testify to the contrary ... of the week ... In temperature ... Higher rates for money tend to prevent excesses in Wall street, yet there is no ... funds for mercantile undertakings. At some cities ... trade ... quiet, first necessities ... supplementary orders ... awaited. The first ... trade is noted, and this element promises to supply unprecedented business this year. Manufacturers are so fully occupied that contracts for early delivery cannot be considered in most cases. These sanguine prospects are confidently announced by several of the leading industries, latest news from the iron furnaces and steel mills being notably gratifying. Crops were not seriously injured by the frost and such a small percentage of the year's yield still remains in danger that agricultural results may be summed up as most favorable.

Railway earnings thus far reported for October gained only ... per cent over last year's movement, but ... of securities were but little influenced by the bankers' addresses urging conservatism. Demand for hides is fully sustained, prices rising still further on some varieties, but packers are sold well up into November, and more remote purchases are not made because of uncertainty regarding quality.

Failures this week numbered 214 in the United States compared with 208 a year ago, and 25 in Canada, 24 last year.

MRS. BELLE GREENLEAF RECOVERING NICELY

Just how desperate the burns sustained by Mrs. Belle Greenleaf from the coal oil explosion at her home, 741 East Willamette avenue, Thursday night, the physician in attendance is not able to state. The surface skin was removed from the burned parts yesterday, but whether the wounds are so deep that they will not heal without the grafting of new skin will not be known for some days. Mrs. Greenleaf is recovering nicely from the shock of the occurrence.

It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. For sale by Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.
